Re: Thomas Kline, et al. v. Loman Auto Group, et al.
Docket No.: MRS-L-3575-08
Date of Loss: February 24, 2007

Dear Counselors:

Further to our telephone conference with Judge Rand and the trial deposition of David Dillon, we have determined that Mr. Dillon's testimony is necessary to authenticate Chrysler's responses and submissions to the NHTSA Office of Defects Investigation with regard to the current investigation of the Jeep Grand Cherokee commenced by the Center for Auto Safety. Therefore, if all parties are willing to stipulate to the authenticity of these documents and their exhibits by way of an Affidavit from Mr. Dillon, then discovery and trial depositions will not be necessary, and the pending motion for a protective order filed by plaintiffs will be resolved.
